

Medication Therapy Management with Clinical Pharmacy and Dispensing - OMICS Group Pharma Conferences

International Summit on Clinical therapy and Dispensing to be held during November 18-20, 2013 at San Antonio, USA.

HENDERSON, NV, USA, August 26, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- According to American College of Clinical Pharmacy (ACCP), clinical pharmacy is "area of pharmacy that is concerned with the science and practice of rational medication use." It recommends practice by community pharmacists with RPh degrees rather than D Pharmacy.

As per the definition, apart from the medical care, the trained Pharmacist must also be able to provide cognitive care like 'counseling' as in the case of HIV/AIDS or Diabetic. Clinical pharmacy as a field emerged prominently during early 80s and mid 90s and by early 2000 Medication therapy Management as a discipline became a norm in the industry.

Acknowledging the demand for the Clinical pharmacy studies in this globalised era, OMICS Group International, a leading open access online Science Journal publisher and scientific event organizer that organizes over 100 International Science Conferences all over the globe annually announces to organize International Summit on Clinical Pharmacy and Dispensing from November 18-20, 2013 at San Antonio, USA.
