DELHI, DELHI, INDIA, September 2, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- I think the GDP numbers are on expected lines. I still see some silver lining as the services sector has shown stability on a Q to Q basis and agriculture has shown an improvement on a Q to Q basis. The worst has been industrial, mining and manufacturing. If the government can make some major policy changes we can still revive the growth but it must happen fast. Since the numbers are come to us delayed the Q2 GDP will further go down. For the full year I would expect a GDP number of 4.2%
