including 450 x 450 tiles in the living, dining and kitchen areas. The bedrooms, home theatres and activity rooms all have soft carpeting, leading to a cosy feeling throughout the home.

“We know that second home buyers have a better idea of how they'll use their home and what they want it to include. Additionally, they're more likely to have a growing family, which is why the homes in the Big Australia Range are all larger and have three, four or even five bedrooms.

Each one has a children's wing set away from the master suite, which can provide parents with a welcome, private retreat at the end of the day,” said Sandra Muller of New Generation Homes (<http://www.newgenerationhomes.com.au/>).

House and land packages in Perth for the Big Australia Range start at $350,000. Buyers can obtain financing from New Generation's in-house financing partner, Westgate Financial Services. The finance team from Westgate is one of the most experienced in Perth and the financial specialists can help find the ideal financial package for each individual buyer.
