

INDUSTRY HEAVYWEIGHT MARK THIBAULT LAUNCHES T3 PRIVATE JETS ASIA LIMITED IN HONG KONG AND THAILAND

HONG KONG, HONG KONG, September 10, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hong Kong, 10 September 2013 – T3 Private Jets Asia Limited (T3) has launched a fresh approach to aircraft management for clients in the Asia-Pacific region. "The overwhelming demand for a new approach to business aviation management has encouraged me to launch this company and offer clients a fresh approach to how their expectations are managed or met," said Mark Thibault, Managing Partner for T3. Drawing on his more than 30 years of business jet experience and as the previous COO at both Metrojet and Hongkong Jet, Mark and the T3 team offer clients accurate aviation advice in regards to their current management company. Additionally the mission is to help clients and management companies better manage expectations.

Numerous clients, vendors, and even OEMs who are unhappy with their current situation have approached T3. The T3 team will review contracts, audit monthly billings, review aircraft logbooks, and perform a physical inspection of the aircraft to ensure that clients and management companies are all acting within the agreed terms of the management contracts. This service will help everyone involved by ensuring the value of the relationship is upheld and will offer benefit to all parties. T3 will offer clients the opportunity to stay with their current management company, assist with a move to a new management company, or support the client to "self-manage" his private jet. T3 is similar to a marriage counselor for private jet clients and management companies. The objective is to keep them together, but when a divorce is the only way forward, T3 can guide them through the process and assist in their future happiness. Our un-biased and un-rushed approach has been dubbed as a "refreshing change" for business jet Owners and other industry stakeholders.

This approach is something new for Asia based business jet Owners, where business aviation has grown so rapidly. The growth is forecasted to continue at an unprecedented pace, additionally Asian business aviation clients have become more savvy and the market is maturing. It is the right time to sort out our small but growing part of the industry to ensure industry benchmarks and a level playing field are established. Ultimately, the focus is to provide safe, efficient, and effective management for Asian based clients and transient customers.

The T3 team has decades of experience in aircraft management, maintenance, service and consulting, and has been a pioneer in developing business jet operations, maintenance, safety and service in Asia. The company looks forward to continuing to thrive, with our client's expectations met and exceeded as the core thrust of the company's strategy.
