Piccolo Chef attended the Red Tricycle Awards event to celebrate their victory for Most Awesome Kids Birthday Party Concept

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, September 17, 2013

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Piccolo Chef has been awarded the 2013 Red Tricycle Award for Most Awesome Kids Birthday Party Concept in all of Los Angeles. More than 235,000 total votes were cast across 29 different categories for local businesses. To celebrate, Piccolo Chef attended an exclusive event hosted by Red Tricycle to congratulate and meet all the winners and finalists. The event included announcements, a mixer, some great food, and a congratulatory speech from president of Red Tricycle.

Tina Fanelli Moraccini, the co-founder of Piccolo Chef, had nothing but rave things to say about Red Tricycle and the event: "I felt very much in my element last night - the room was filled with moms who run their own child-based businesses. I felt inspired by these incredible, intelligent and hard-working women and proud to be one of them. My hat is off to the winners and finalists from the Red Tri Most Awesome Awards, whose main goal is enriching - each in their own way - the lives of children, but really to all the parents out there making a difference in children's lives."

Red Tricycle is the go-to platform for parents who have little time on their hands. They aim to find out the best activities for them and their children with minimal hassle. Piccolo Chef was awarded the Red Tricycle Award for their one-of-a-kind, professionally produced cooking show parties for kids. Taking place in a real Hollywood studio, Piccolo Chef gives kids a chance to be on camera and live out their dreams by being on a cooking show much like Masterchef and The Next Food Network Star.

Piccolo Chef's clients include savvy and sophisticated people who want the best: studio executives, CEOs, professional athletes, celebrities and affluent families seeking unique and surprising parties. Some of Piccolo Chef's top clientele include Jodie Foster, Shaunie O'Neal (VH1's Basketball Wives), Alison Sweeney (The Biggest Loser), and Weird Al Yankovich.
