

New Travelers' Assistance Service For Latin America

Brand New Service Protects Travelers' Rights In Latin America

HAMBURG, GERMANY, September 25, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Travelers to Latin America no longer have to worry whether their rights as consumers will be respected: A brand new service offered by LegisTravel GmbH (<https://www.legistravel.com/en>) helps travelers to get what they bought or booked. Local attorneys help travelers in English and Spanish.

Among other advantages the service offers the following ones:

- Immediate and unlimited help with all problems, the traveling consumer encounters during his or her stay in one of the LegisTravel destinations. The attorneys can be contacted by phone, e-mail or fax.
- Bilingual complaint forms available on the website of LegisTravel; easy to download, fill out and print.
- Help by a local attorney specialized in consumer protection who prepares and files justified claims.
- Information on-line on the progress and success of the claim.

It is LegisTravel's aim to strengthen the position of traveling consumers on their trip. Travelers gain confidence, as they are sure to get what they booked for their trip – no matter, whether they did so at home or during their trip. The service also helps consumers with the correct execution of other performances. But the service has even more advantages to offer: LegisTravel costumers profit from special conditions, should they need an attorney to assist them with other legal problems at their destination, i.e. in case of a traffic accident.

The service – the ticket for travelers – t4t – is available at your travel agency or on-line at <https://www.legistravel.com/en>. The service is – at the moment – offered for 15 countries in Latin America.
