MELBOURNE, VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA, August 1, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Shoebooks, a highly competitive online accounting program in Australia, has introduced a new way to connect with customers and partners. SB Hub is a place for the Shoebooks community to share various information about online accounting software services and provide tips on how to use these services to grow a business of any kind and size.

What is Shoebooks?

Shoebooks is a cloud accounting program for small and medium businesses that offers business owners expansive leeway for doing bookkeeping and accounting processes. The program offers innovative solutions that are appropriate for modern enterprises, such as 24/7 access, secure hosting, project costing, financial reporting, inventory, employee portal, and many others that infuse efficiency into the traditional methods.

In order to set it apart from other providers of bookkeeping and payroll services, Shoebooks hires experienced people to handle employee payrolls and bookkeeping processes of clients. This outsourced service allows business owners to save money by only paying for the actual value of the service than hiring an accountant for the job.

The SB Hub

With the SB Hub launched, interaction among the users of Shoebooks services has been strengthened, allowing them to share tips and tricks about the usage of specific services. This form of sharing is also supplemented by how-to videos and guides that can improve the usability of features especially for new users. Now, a how-to guide on creating a recurring transaction is made clear and available through the Hub; and as the Hub grows, more people will benefit from the information as more in the community contribute.
