

Safe-Way Pest & Wildlife Services in St. Louis Now Offers Commercial Pest Control

ST. LOUIS, MO, USA, October 8, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In business for more than 60 years serving the greater St. Louis area, Safe-Way Pest & Wildlife Services is now offering commercial pest control service for offices and buildings that are affected by roaches, ants or mice.

St. Louis, MO. The arrival of pests to a company's office or buildings adversely affects the value of the business, in both its marketing aspects and by the deleterious impressions made on its customers. If a building up for sale is discovered to have termites, for example, it is imperative to eradicate them as soon as possible, or forfeit the sale until the building is cleared of those destructive pests.

Businesses in and around St. Louis can now call on Safe-Way Pest & Wildlife Services, a St. Louis commercial pest control company, for any real or suspected invasions of ants, roaches or mice.

"For the last six decades, our St. Louis pest services have helped countless homeowners banish pests, rodents and other wildlife from their properties. Now we want to extend our services to businesses. Whether you know that your business is infested or you want to take precautions with the onset of winter, you can count on our team of experienced pest control specialists to solve or prevent your problem right away," says Bill Norman, company spokesperson.

Safe-Way Pest & Wildlife Services has expanded its services to include schools, restaurants, hotels, sports facilities, medical offices, apartment buildings, warehouses, factories, retail shops and gyms. In addition to its services to mitigate or get rid of ants, roaches or mice, Safe-Way Pest & Wildlife Services also deals with the following pests: squirrels, rats, spiders, raccoons, termites, bees, silverfish, pigeons, hornets, moles possums and skunks. If any of those critters are now affecting or threatening to affect commercial property owners, contact the company immediately at (314) 282-4058.

The company is now offering its tried-and-true safe, affordable pest removal services for commercial clients throughout the greater St. Louis area, including those in the surrounding cities of St. Charles, O'Fallon, St. Peter's, Chesterfield, Kirkwood, Manchester, Ballwin, Ladue, Town and Country, Webster Groves, Maryland Heights, Frontenac and Florissant.
