

Housewright Construction, a Vermont Custom Builder, Offers Restoration Services

Vermont custom builder Housewright Construction has performed renovation projects since 1985.

NEWBURY, VT, USA, October 10, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Housewright Construction in Newbury Vermont has been restoring homes for almost three decades. In business since 1985, the company offers a variety of renovation projects, home additions, and deep-energy retrofits, in addition to project management, budgeting and estimating, code compliance, and so much more.

The company has done work for home, business, and governmental clients, and has seen its work recognized over the years in Vermont B/A, New England Home, Architectural Digest, and Builder Architect. Visitors to the Vermont State House Gallery would certainly have seen Housewright Construction's work, in the form of the company's historic renovation and plasterwork, which took the venerable old building and renewed its vitality and splendor.

Home and business renovations completed by Housewright Construction include a variety of projects. From a European-style estate featuring a renovated farmhouse that was turned into guest and staff quarters, to cottages for a luxury boutique hotel – one in Tuscan style, and one in a Moroccan form --, the company has demonstrated the ability to handle all kinds of historic renovations in Vermont.

A member of the National Association of Home Builders, Housewright Construction is proud to be an EPA Lead Safe certified firm. EPA's Lead Renovation, Repair and Painting Rule requires that firms performing renovation, repair, and painting projects that disturb lead-based paint in homes, child care facilities and pre-schools built before 1978 have their firm certified by EPA), use certified renovators who are trained by EPA-approved training providers and follow lead-safe work practices.

Housewright Construction performs renovation projects in Woodstock, Norwich, Hartland, St. Johnsbury and Barnard in Vermont; and Hanover, Sunapee, Lyme, Franconia and Lebanon in New Hampshire.
