

GetAwayGrey Receives Certification from Doctor Trusted

CHARLESTON, SC, USA, October 28, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- GetAwayGrey, which manufactures and markets an all natural Super Premium vitamin to reverse and prevent gray hair , has recently been approved to display a doctor's seal of approval, a major benefit granted by consumer protection service Doctor Trusted.

GetAwayGrey, A Super Premium vitamin supplement with catalase, which has been proven to reverse and prevent gray hair, has recently been approved to display a doctor's seal of approval.

To earn certification, GetAwayGrey passed a strict application process that involves careful evaluation by a doctor of their website and any products or services offered. The review process involves predetermined criteria that include fair pricing and return criteria, reasonable medical claims, easy-to-locate customer service and protection of sensitive customer data, among others.

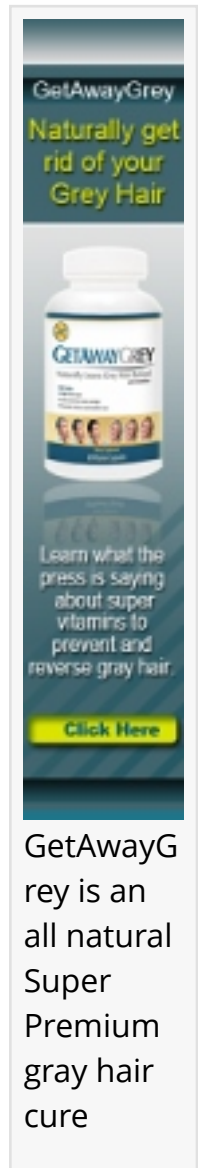

The entire process promotes consumer safety surrounding health products and services, and helps GetAwayGrey strengthen trust in their brand as an online health business.

As GetAwayGrey has passed each of these criteria, they are now eligible to display a web seal of approval on their webpage, which provides an easy, highly visible way for customers to check legitimacy on their own before making a purchase. This protects customers as well as business owners by elevating moral business practices and accountability.

GetAwayGrey is based on an enzyme known as catalase, which breaks down hydrogen peroxide and is the reason why humans go gray; catalase levels diminish as we grow older. GetAwayGrey works by replicating the enzyme with a plant based derivative. The product was based on new scientific studies from the University of Bradford, in England.
