Pringle Homebuilding Group has announced the addition of virtual tours to its updated and revised website LakesofMountDora.com. This new feature will allow potential clients to review select models as if they were standing in the home themselves. Three homes will be featured in the initial launch of the "virtual tour" section of the website- which was itself completely updated just four months ago. More virtual tours are planned for the near future.

LakesofMountDora.com features a new level of interactivity and depth of information about this premier Florida active adult community. Users will enjoy browsing the numerous sections including information about central Florida, charming Mount Dora, the community's amenities and features, and, of course Pringle Homebuilding Group, LLC- Florida's premier builder of custom and semi-custom homes for 55 and better clients.

"We're very proud of this addition to the new website", says Steve Nordstrom, PHG's President. "Our I/T manager and Webmaster, Dennis Bottaro, has been working for some time now to add virtual tours to the site. He's been a proponent of the idea since we were designing LakesofMountDora.com last year". The virtual tours will allow the user to pan in all directions and control every aspect of the view. Each tour will also include a selection of still photographs of the home.

The Lakes of Mount Dora- a central Florida active adult community- has been named among 'America's 50 Best Master-Planned Communities' by Where to Retire magazine. This premier community is planned for 950 single-family homes in four phases. Uniquely, it has been designed to provide waterfront access or water views to over 75% of the residents. The Lakes of Mount Dora is fully gated, and features great amenities throughout the community.

Pringle Homebuilding Group enjoys a reputation as being among the region's top builders. The company's dedication to "personal service" for each client is often the deciding factor when prospective clients choose Pringle Homebuilding Group. The employees at PHG pride themselves on their integrity, communication and agility- values they believe set PHG apart from their much larger competitors.
