The vaginal Mesh Helpline ,a leading source for vaginal mesh lawsuit information,reports the December 5th settlement talks.

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA, USA, November 20, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Vaginal Mesh Helpline lawyer's report that a December fifth status conference will take place for the vaginal mesh lawsuits in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of West Virginia.

According to the helpline representatives, "these conferences are an important part of the vaginal mesh lawsuits." "They are especially significant in huge product liability injury cases where there has been a consolidation of federal cases such as the mesh. Thousands of mesh victims have been injured by the same type of product with common reported injuries. Most have gone thru numerous revision surgeries or had the mesh removed. These periodic status conferences for vaginal mesh lawsuits often include settlement discussions".

The Vaginal Helpline reports that the manufacturers involved in the vaginal mesh lawsuit conference will include: C.R. Bard, American Medical Systems, Coloplast, Cook Medical and Boston Scientific.

The Vaginal Mesh Helpline social worker states" I have spoken to so many women with extreme injuries whose lives have been ruined by these vaginal mesh implants. I hope that these manufacturers will come to settlements that are compensatory for these horrendous injuries." The Helpline representative continues" The manufacturers listed above are considering settling tens of thousands of vaginal mesh lawsuits across the country in according to a Sept. 30 Bloomberg report.

"Unfortunately one of the largest vaginal mesh manufacturers,Johnson & Johnson's Ethicon,is reportedly not a participant in the talks",the helpline tells us.

The vaginal Mesh Helpline is currently involved in launching a massive outreach to mesh victims in states with a 3, 4 ,5 and 6 year statute of limitations. "Most vaginal mesh lawyers have closed their doors to 2 year statute states". "We wait and hope for justice for so many mesh victims. These vaginal mesh injuries have destroyed lives and created havoc for marriages and families". The Helpline social worker tells us.

They are currently seeking women injured by the vaginal mesh implants in; d.c, Florida, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

The helpline tells us they continue to get call from women nationwide who just realized their complications and symptoms are from the vaginal mesh. "Our hearts go out to these women".

"We can still help them if it is a Boston Scientific and American Medical ( AMS ) vaginal mesh".

"We hope there will be a way to help women who missed the July 2 year statute cut of date". In the meantime we can offer support and help them find a doctor".
