

FabTrol Systems Exhibits at Manufacturing Indonesia 2013

FabTrol Systems showcases FabTrol Pro, the company's flagship steel fabrication management software, at Manufacturing Indonesia event

EUGENE, OR, USA, November 26, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- FabTrol Systems, a global leader in steel fabrication MRP software, is participating in this year's Manufacturing Indonesia expo, one of the leading international manufacturing events in the Indonesian and SE Asian markets. Manufacturing Indonesia 2013, being held December 4-7 in Jakarta, Indonesia at Jakarta International Expo Kemayoran, provides an opportunity for the region's industrialists to learn about the latest international manufacturing technologies in one location. Over 1,600 exhibitors from more than 35 countries will be on hand to offer Industry professionals an informative and efficient way to see and compare a wide range of industrial products, equipment and materials.

Steel fabricators and others in the AEC sector who are attending the conference are encouraged to come by Exhibit D-854 to learn more about FabTrol Systems' integrated modular steel fabrication management software and see first-hand how the company's flagship program, FabTrol Pro, helps steel fabricators maximize efficiencies and profits for individual projects and company-wide.

Designed to meet the real-world needs of mid-sized to large steel fabricators in a fast-paced competitive marketplace, FabTrol Pro includes fully integrated estimating, bill of materials, drawings, materials, production and shipping management tools. The program's integration and highly automated design—which automatically updates information across all modules—ensures that everyone involved on the job has access to the same time-sensitive information.

FabTrol System's International Business Development Manager, Jim Moody, will be on hand to demonstrate the company's software and discuss how it can meet the needs of steel fabricators, detailers and others in the steel fabrication supply chain.
