

PEMEX Reform Means Great Opportunities for U.S. Oil & Gas Companies

U.S. exploration, logistics & support firms looking to benefit from the Mexican energy reform should attend the Mexican Unconventionals Opportunities Symposium.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, USA, December 17, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Under the leadership of President Enrique Pena Nieto, Mexico is changing their constitution to allow foreign investment and partnerships in oil & gas exploration. This reform should result in an economy-changing oil & gas boom for Mexico, similar to what has been seen in the Eagle Ford and Williston basins in the U.S. The great news for U.S. companies is that the state-owned oil company, known as PEMEX, needs U.S. experience and capital to take full advantage of this opportunity. U.S. and Canadian oil & gas companies are lining up to provide those partnerships, and many are taking to first step by attending the Mexican Unconventionals Opportunities Symposium on January 7, 2014 at the Petroleum Club of Houston.

Opportunities will not only exist for E&P companies, but also for logistics firms, well servicers, frac sand and proppant suppliers, trucking companies, environmental firms, engineering firms, etc.

Conference attendees will hear from leaders from Pemex, E&P companies, and others on the unique opportunity emerging in Mexico. Featured speakers include Mexican congressman and leaders in the reform, Javier Trevino; PEMEX Procurement International President & CEO, Arturo Henriquez; Jorge Lopez de Cardenas, Director of Technology for Mexico and Central America for Schlumberger; and many others.

The symposium will be limited in size, so those interested are encouraged to register early in order to confirm their seat. Sponsorships are also available. More information can be found at <http://www.petroleumconnection.com/Mexico2014/>
