

Boynton Beach Real Estate Agent Debbie Elbaum Says Casa Costa Condo Inventory Going Fast

BOYNTON BEACH, FLA., USA, December 24, 2013

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Debbie Elbaum, a Boynton Beach

REALTOR®, says more than half of the luxury condos community Casa Costa has been sold, leaving only about 175 units on the market.

It's been incredible to watch these units disappear so fast, and for good reason. The builder has included some great incentives, such as two years of no condo association fees.”

Boynton Beach REALTOR® Debbie Elbaum says more than half of Casa Costa condo inventory has been sold, leaving only about 175 units on the market.

Casa Costa, the newest luxury waterfront condo development in the Palm Beaches, has been a big hit for buyers, according to Elbaum, who specializes in communities, condos, and homes in the area.

"It's been incredible to watch these units disappear so fast, and for good reason," she says. "The builder has included some great incentives, such as two years of no condo association fees."

But she says that while builder incentives have been generous, the location and amenities have largely driven sales.

"Casa Costa appeals to the snow birds seeking a seasonal home as well as year round residents because it is so unique. There is an adjacent marina that residents have access to right on the Intracoastal, complete with a yacht club and dock privileges," she says.

Elbaum says that her buyers list a number of amenities that helped them decide on Casa Costa, including the fitness center, hotel-class valet and concierge services, waterfront restaurants, private beach club, and scenic Intracoastal and Ocean views.

"My suggestion is that buyers who want to own a condo in Casa Costa should act quickly to get their preferred unit before inventory dries up," she says. "I would expect most of the remaining units to be gone in the first half of 2014, and when they're gone, they're gone!"

She says buyers can contact her at 561-288-4618 to inquire about purchasing Casa Costa Condos in Boynton Beach, Florida.
