

Karen Tenney Publishes Spiritual Memoir eBook 'A Mad Desire for God'

One year after the well-received publication of Karen Tenney's A Mad Desire for God in print, this compelling memoir is now available as an eBook.

GOLDEN, CO, USA, December 30, 2013

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Author and cancer survivor Karen Tenney announces the eBook publication of her inspiring spiritual memoir A Mad Desire for God: My astounding journey with a modern-day spiritual master.

Like Elizabeth Gilbert's Eat, Pray, Love, Karen Tenney's spiritual journey embodies the desires, passions and independence of a modern woman. And like Thomas Merton's The Seven Storey Mountain, it is a journey into the depths of the soul's quest for God.

Born into privilege, Karen survived an abusive and chaotic childhood. She went on to build a life as a successful therapist, businesswoman, devoted mother and spiritual seeker.

Her world was radically changed when destiny led her to the feet of Kalindi, a powerful and loving spiritual master who awakened in her a deep longing for love, fulfillment and union with God. Soon an extraordinary relationship unfolded between Master and disciple, taking Karen to the heights of spiritual ecstasy and the limits of letting go.

Diagnosed with inoperable brain cancer in 2010, Karen was forced to face her own mortality and begin preparing herself – and her family – for her death and dying process and a “conscious departure,” (all material and spiritual matters taken care of in advance).

Two years later, a miraculous recovery from cancer gave her a second chance at life, and the opportunity to continue pursuing the spiritual freedom she longed for.

“I was told I had an aggressive form of cancer in both frontal lobes. ... It was grade three (out of four), malignant and invasive. If not dealt with aggressively, the cancer could kill me within a short period of time.

... My first reaction after hearing what might happen to my mind was, 'Oh shoot! I'm going to be ... a vegetable.'

...I never thought I'd write a book about my spiritual transformation, nor did I think I would get diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor at the age of fifty-one. Then again, it's only because of the tumor that I now awaken daily to the depth of my connection to God. Just as daily what is unnecessary falls away."

Karen is an active blogger. Her blog, a sample chapter and information about preparing for death and dying – "conscious departure" can be found at <http://amaddesireforgod.com>.

Follow Karen on her astounding spiritual journey of passion, courage, devotion and faith.
