One of the tenets of the NACC is that members “Shop the Chamber” first. This means that when a company or an individual has a need, they are encouraged to look for a provider within the ranks of the Chamber membership first. In this way, member businesses can more fully support one another. As a Board member, Parks plans to continue this philosophy.

"It's an honor to be selected to the Board. I hope to improve member retention, increase the value of Chamber membership to members by adding educational events and opportunities and effectively represent the Naperville Chamber to area legislators," said Parks.

As Chairman of the Member Services Team, Parks will act as liaison between members and the Board. The Member Services Team advocates for the membership, reporting needs and suggestions directly to the Board, while maintaining the mission and best interests of the Chamber.

Adam Parks has several note-worthy credentials to his name. He was selected "Best Investment Advisor of 2013" by Naperville Magazine. In addition to his leadership roles within the NACC he is a member of several local community organizations including the Rotary Club of Naperville where he sits on the Board of Directors and was voted 2013 "Rookie Rotarian of the Year". He is the 2014 Chair of the Club's Membership Committee and is the Past Chair of the Rotary Sponsorship Committee, which raised nearly $80,000 under his guidance.
