

NBA TV Live Stream and Where to Watch NBA Basketball Games Online by Live-BasketballChannels

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, February 25, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- NBA Playoffs 2014 is only two months away from tip off and the race to the postseason is beginning to heat up. The option to view each game online is available and fans worldwide can enjoy Live NBA Stream in High Definition.

Countdown to the postseason is officially underway in the National Basketball Association. Two months from now a total of 16 teams from both the Eastern and Western conference will get the opportunity to compete in the playoffs, and each participating squad will enter with a common goal in mind, and that's to make it to the NBA Finals.

The Pacers, thus far have put together one of their most successful season's in recent years and currently have the best record in the Eastern Conference at 42-13. If the MVP were to be announced today Paul George, would be at the top of the list next to superstars such as Kevin Durant and LeBron James.

The 23 year old third year player out of Fresno State continues to grow as a player, and averaging a impressive 22.7 points per contest and 6.4 rebounds. The ability to play both ends of the floor and willingness to guard the opposing teams best perimeter player is one of the primary reasons why George is a top 5 player in the game

Can Miami win 3 titles in row? Despite how great the Pacers have been, the Heat are only 1 1/2 games out of the top seed in the conference with a record of 40-14. Miami is 8-2 in it's last 10 games and starting to play like the team that represented the Eastern Conference over the last three years. After battling through knee problems SG Dwayne Wade, continues to play at a high level, while LeBron James is simply the best player in basketball.

James, is putting together one of the most efficient seasons from a perimeter player in years, as the 29 year old is shooting 57 percent from the floor and averaging 26.9 points, 7.1 rebounds and 6.5 assist. The Pacers and Heat are clearly head and shoulders above the rest of the teams in the East and could once again meet with the NBA Finals trip on the line.

In the Western Conference Kevin Durant, is having his best season as a professional. With Russell Westbrook sidelined with a injury, the 25 year old has the Thunder in position to have home court advantage in the Western Conference playoffs. Oklahoma City, is 43-14 and currently holds a 2 1/2 game lead over the San Antonio Spurs for top seed.

5 years ago the Spurs looked like a team on the decline. It's 2014, and San Antonio led by the big three in Tony Parker, Tim Duncan and Manu Ginobili are still a team more than capable of making it back to the NBA Finals. Last season the Spurs blew a golden opportunity to win their first title since 2007, when they blew a 5 point lead in the closing seconds of their game 6 matchup against the Miami heat in the NBA Finals. San Antonio is 40-16, and if the playoffs were to begin today would be the second seed entering the playoffs.

Other teams that could make some noise in the Western Conference could be the Houston Rockets and Clippers. Blake Griffin is having arguably his most dominant season since turning pro, and erased all doubts about working on his game during the offseason. The third year player has improved his mid-range jumper, fundamentals in the low post, and averaging 24.3 points and 9.8 rebounds.
