

Stewart Ramsay Joins Vanry and Associates

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, March 4, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Vanry and Associates, a cross sector provider of high performance executive counsel, today announced that Stewart Ramsay will be joining the firm as Senior Partner. Ramsay was previously the CEO of Smart Wire Grid, Inc. a technology startup based in Oakland, CA. Prior to SWG, Mr. Ramsay served as president of CTC Cable, as well as executive roles at PG&E and American Electric Power.

"We are pleased to have Stewart join VAI, his experience as an innovative and compassionate leader, his strategic thinking capabilities, and his detailed technical and operational knowledge are a unique combination," said Mikel Vanry, VAI's Founder and Principal. "VAI has a reputation for delivering exceptional counsel to leaders across industry, and we believe that Stewart brings additional scope and depth to our offers."

The addition of Mr Ramsay comes at a critical time for several industry sectors. The growth of technological tools and capabilities has added significantly to the strategic and leadership decisions faced by CEO's and their teams. The market and end use customers are adopting new technologies faster than most industry segments can adapt.

"I am happy and extremely excited to be working with Mikel and the VAI team. Mikel's abilities to listen and provide insightful guidance to executives is unparalleled." said Ramsay. "My goal is to extend the reach of the VAI's offers across sectors and help executive teams deliver rapid, predictable and repeatable results."

Vanry and Associates is a well established consulting firm specializing on working with senior executives and executive teams, helping them improve their leadership effectiveness and the performance of their organizations.
