TradeTec Skyline has received the 2014 Annual Awards for Business Excellence (AABEs) from the Daily Herald Business Ledger. The Chicago trade show exhibits company was selected in the category of Small Companies.

The AABEs recognize local businesses for many various achievements such as community involvement and company growth. TradeTec Skyline was chosen for the award due to their history of community service as well as their excellence in the trade show industry. The company's innovative products and superior customer service pushed them to the top of the Daily Herald's award list. The Small Companies category includes all businesses that have 50 or fewer employees.

The 2014 Annual Awards for Business Excellence (AABEs) featured 11 categories of competition. Recipients will be presented with their awards and honored at a reception on March 12 to be held at Medinah Banquets in Addison, IL. A special publication of the Daily Herald Business Ledger that lists all award recipients will be published in April 2014.

"It's an honor to have been chosen for this award. TradeTec has been very active in giving back to the community over the past few years. We've raised money for tornado relief, farming for families and have dedicated time to mentoring students. This is all in addition to our usual support of programs tailored to the trade show industry. We are very aware that not every business has the capacity to help out in this way and we're extremely grateful that we are in a position to do so," said Ken Buckman of TradeTec Skyline (www.ttchicago.com).
