IT Governance launches 3-Course Training Passport Offer

IT Governance has launched a 3-Course Training Passport Offer designed to provide organisations with rigorous continuing professional development(CPD)programmes

ELY, UK, March 17, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IT Governance, the international IT-GRC training provider has launched a 3-Course Training Passport Offer designed to provide organisations with rigorous continuing professional development (CPD) programmes and the opportunity to training their staff at a lower cost.

This passport offer includes any three different courses from the IT Governance Training Schedule that take place before the end of December 2014 (with the exception of the CISA, CISM, CGEIT, CRISC, CISSP and CISMP courses). In order to take advantage of the offer delegates have to book before 28 March 2014. Further information is available here: www.itgovernance.co.uk/3-course-training-passport-sale.aspx.

As companies are recognising the benefits from implementing management systems to improve their information security, business continuity and IT service management systems, or to comply with standards such as PCI DSS, there is a greater demand for employees with adequate skills. Professional development is essential for ensuring that project quality is maintained, but also for motivating employees.

In order to assist companies in developing the skills of their senior managers and IT staff, IT Governance has developed a comprehensive training programme to help both organisations and individuals address any skill gaps and stay on top of their projects. The 3-Course Training Passport Offer provides organisations and individuals with up to 30% savings in booking fees. It is the ideal opportunity for managers and HR departments to put their remaining training budget to good use.

Featuring courses at Foundation and Advanced Level, the IT governance training programme ensures that delegates enhance their careers with the award of independent industry - standard qualifications from IBITGQ and APMG.

Training courses can be booked online here: www.itgovernance.co.uk/3-course-training-passport-sale.aspx.

Alternatively, clients can speak to IT Governance's customer service team by phoning 0845 070 1750.
