To further enhance the customer's experience, OCfurniture.com has teamed up with shipping giant FedEx and is offering free shipping on all of its items, even on heavy furniture sets such as dining sets. This allows for the packages to be delivered in a timely manner while also offering customers a reliable system to track their orders online.

To address the issue of buying a high ticket item online without first seeing it, Ashford notes, "Aside from saving the customer money, a primary objective with the new site is to display the clearest furniture images possible, which improves our customer's home shopping experience." Ashford elaborates, "High level imagery paired with furniture descriptions and specification details eliminates the risk of buying something you won't like."

To the delight of locals, Orange and Los Angeles county based customers have the convenient option of viewing a bunk bed or a bedroom set in person when possible.
