

Ensuring compliance to the IATA Regulations for Temperature Sensitive Air Freight shipments

SMi is pleased to announce that Andrea Gruber, Manager, IATA will be chairing both days of the CTL conference and also be doing opening address

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, April 1, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- "Pharmaceuticals are a critical industry that moves one trillion dollars per year.

Temperature changes during transportation can be a serious threat to the integrity of these sensible products. Transporting healthcare products by air needs the establishment of complex logistical methods to maintain shipment's integrity. The IATA Temperature Control Regulations (TCR) addresses temperature management issues identified by the industry and provides the requirements and standards for the transportation and handling of pharmaceutical products" - Pharma & Healthcare products Protecting lives, by IATA <http://www.iata.org/whatwedo/cargo/pharma/Pages/index.aspx>

On this topic SMi is proud to announce that Andrea Gruber, Manager, Cargo Business Process and Standards, International Air Transport Association (IATA) will be chairing the Clinical Trial Logistics conference and also presenting on Ensuring compliance to the IATA Regulations for Temperature Sensitive Air Freight shipments. Mrs Gruber's expertise is a valuable addition to the list of industry experts that will be participating in this conference.

This event will offer delegates the opportunity to navigate the latest changes to GDP guidelines, their applicability, time and temperature management and working with logistical and research partners.
