NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, April 2, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- According to Sarona Design, (<http://www.sarona.com>), a New York-based firm that designs, manufactures, and distributes custom auto body kits for customers worldwide, his company's logos, trademarks and products will be featured in an additional racing theme, as part of the newest incarnation of Microsoft's popular Forza Motorsport (<http://www.forzamotorsport.net>) for Xbox.

"We are incredibly proud to have our products included in this wildly popular Xbox game," says Sarona Design. "It is further proof that Sarona has become recognized, worldwide, for its quality after market body kits, which are manufactured right here in the United States."

According to Sarona Design, Sarona's trademarks, logos and products will be featured in an upcoming "additional" racing game, currently codenamed "Anthem." Although few details are currently available, the game is expected to be part of the tremendous Forza Motorsport franchise from Microsoft.

Next year will mark the ten-year anniversary of the original Forza Motorsport on Xbox and the game's developer, Turn 10 Studio, has grown as a leader in game development. Similarly, since its inception in 1990, Sarona Design says, they has been steadily strengthening its position as an after-market auto tuning and accessories manufacturer.

“It makes sense that Turn 10 Studios, with the development of its most recent Xbox racing game, would look to Sarona, as the company has earned a respectable reputation for offering quality products to automotive enthusiasts,” he said.

“Nonetheless, it is an honor to be a part of this exciting project.”

Sarona Design says that it has always been his company’s mission to design and manufacture the best quality body kits, wings, and accessories for a whole host of different vehicles, all with the perfect fit and finish, at affordable prices.

“Turn 10 Studios, Microsoft and the Forza Motorsport brand recognize Sarona as a leader in this industry,” he concluded, “and that makes me very proud of our team.”

Since its inception in 1990, Sarona (<http://www.sarona.com>) has been steadily strengthening its position as an after-market auto tuning and accessories manufacturer. With facilities in both New York and Pennsylvania, Sarona has earned a reputation for manufacturing quality products both in the United States and worldwide.
