

ACTSI adds a Cayman Islands 145 to their extensive list of capabilities and approvals

ACTSI adds Cayman Islands CAACI AMO approval to their extensive list of regulatory accreditations.

SUBIC BAY , PHILIPPINES, April 4, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Subic Bay, Philippines – April 2014 – ACTSI adds Cayman Islands CAACI AMO approval to their extensive list of regulatory accreditations that have been awarded to the Business Jet Service Center based in Subic Bay, Philippines. "We are pleased to announce this additional approval that underscores our commitment to providing a world class business jet maintenance facility that operates to international standards and industry best practices. This approval will allow ACTSI to maintain, repair, and return to service Cayman Islands registered aircraft and incorporates Boeing, Bombardier, Gulfstream, Hawker, Embraer and Cessna. The Cayman Islands approval is based on ICAO standards for which we are proud to say, we meet and exceed." says Terry Habeck, CEO of ACTSI.

ACTSI holds approvals and aircraft type ratings for US, Bermuda, Cayman Islands, and Isle of Man registered aircraft. Through strategic partnerships, ACTSI can support nearly any aircraft registration. "This strategically located Business Jet Service Center provides clients with cost effective and efficient solutions for their Asian based and transient aircraft. Our labor rates are significantly lower than regional norms and there is no charge for hangar space when an aircraft is at our facility for maintenance. This cost item at other locations can be more than the maintenance costs alone. Fuel and all other services are measurably less expensive in Subic Bay; the cost of moving an aircraft to Subic Bay for maintenance or hangarage is often offset by pure savings alone. ACTSI operates to International Standards in the heart of Asia. We feel that as a result, the region and all stakeholders will welcome the difference and will greatly benefit from it." says Terry Habeck.

ACTSI provides a level of service that is based upon proactive and preventive maintenance support that is difficult to obtain in Asia. ACTSI also offers long term hangarage for the ultimate in asset protection for less the cost of parking outside in Hong Kong and China.
