PANAMA CITY, FL, USA, May 5, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The PLM Software provider, PSA, announces the return of CMPROficiency+ 2014. CMPRO users will convene May 20 – 22 in Panama City, Florida for an opportunity to learn how to use CMPRO in-depth and earn a CMPRO Training Certificate of Completion.

The PLM Software provider, Professional Systems Associates, Inc. (PSA), announces the return of CMPROficiency+ 2014. CMPRO users will convene May 20 – 22 in Panama City, Florida for an opportunity to learn how to use CMPRO in-depth and earn a CMPRO Training Certificate of Completion.

In the CMPROficiency+ 2012 Attendee Survey, a respondent wrote, "The most significant benefit of using CMPRO at our site is that it forces good CM practices and allows electronic storage of the documentation, workflows and signatures associated with our records."

Ray Wozny from the Institute of Configuration Management (ICM) states, "ICM will be present at CMPROficiency+ so that you can find out how to utilize the full potential of CMPRO by understanding and implementing best practices per the CMII model. We will be there to answer your questions and provide training options for your organization."
