

U.S Commerce Department to License Export of Satellites

SMI's Defence Exports conference takes place on the 1st and 2nd October 2014, Amsterdam, The Netherlands

LONDON, UK, May 19, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS) just published regulations that will fundamentally change the nature of U.S. export controls on most commercial, scientific, and civil satellites and their parts and components. Together with a companion rule issued by the Department of State, the action moves the items from Category XV of the State Department's U.S. Munitions List (USML) to the Commerce Control List.*

Have the chance to hear keynote addresses from the U.S Department of Commerce, State and Defense at the 9th annual Defence Exports conference taking place in Amsterdam this October.

At Defence Exports 2014 you will gain valuable information from key government officials and industry leaders on the crucial U.S. ECR modifications, key national export control reforms and plans for regulation changes in the future.

Places are limited so those interested are advised to book their place & take advantage of the £300 early bird discount expiring at the end of the month.

At Defence Exports 2014 there will be 3 industry keynote addresses from:

- Kenneth B. Handelman, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Bureau of Political-Military Affairs, U.S Department of State
- Kevin Wolf, Assistant Secretary for Export Administration, Department of Commerce
- Beth McCormick, Director, Defense Technology Security Administration, Department of Defense
