SANDIA PARK, NM, USA, May 16, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- "Looking for a safe, secure, easy and affordable way to travel with wine?" Barry Wax would like to introduce you to the VinGardeValise™, a most unique wine suitcase. said that the wine suitcase "...should dramatically facilitate the ability of consumers to confidently and comfortably travel with their wine."

The holder of several wine accessory patents, Wax designed the VGV™ to "...incorporate the flexible needs and lifestyles of wine consumers." According to Wax, "the modular design of the case allows consumers to re-purpose it to carry from 2 to 12 bottles of wine, or, to take less wine and fill the empty space with clothes, books and toiletries."

Fully loaded with a full case of wine, (12-750ml bottles), the VGV™ weighs in at between 43 and 48 lbs (depending on the size and weight of the bottles), thus avoiding airline excess baggage charges. The suitcase can accommodate a wide variety of wide and tall bottles, as well as one champagne bottle per side. The suitcase shell is made of polycarbonate and contains high density polyurethane modular foam compartments inside. With 4 double spinner wheels, the case is easy to move; and two double handles on the top and side facilitate lifting and carrying, when necessary.

The first shipment of the VinGardeValise™ is scheduled to arrive in Wax's west coast distribution center within about 10 days. MSRP is set at $199.99 and the item can be ordered on-line at www.VinGardeValise.com.
