-- FTT Holding AB has announced that CEO & Co-founder Tim Haman has stepped down as CEO of the Fair Trading Technology Group. The decision was taken jointly by the board and Mr Haman as the firm is moving its focus towards its business-to-business operations. As a co-founder Tim will continue to contribute to the success of the group as a senior advisor.

"Mr Haman has played a pivotal role in building and growing this company to what it is today. While it is never easy to see a co-founder leave it is not uncommon as a company matures and the timing is right," said Mr Sven-Erick Carlsson, Chairman of board. "Mr Haman and the board has taken this decision jointly."

While the board is searching for a new CEO, the group will be under interim management by board member, Mr Bo Rydlinger. Mr Rydlinger has a banking background and has worked for both SEB and Swedbank. Mr Rydlinger has extensive experience from FX and Interest Rate trading as Head of Trading in Capital Markets at SEB, Luxembourg.

Fair Trading Technology is a rapidly growing technology provider, creating new and innovative solutions for the day-to-day problems facing foreign exchange brokers and their clients.
