Airways Aviation brings together under one global brand a number of well established aviation entities that offers world standard fixed wing and helicopter training & education via it's Government approved facilities.

“In Australia for example, Airways Aviation is the only Australian Government Approved Registered Training Organisation (RTO), and Commonwealth Register of Courses and Institutions for Overseas Students (CRICOS) provider in Australia offering Certificate IV and Diploma courses up to and including multi-engine instrument ratings for both fixed-wing and rotary-wing student pilots”

“This new bespoke education facility on the beautiful Gold Coast is the first of many important stages of our planned strategic growth over 2014 and beyond as our company responds to both domestic and international market demand, and industry expectations.” said Romy Hawatt – Airways Aviation Group CEO.

The Australian operation is postured to provide domestic and international aviation students a competitive edge on the global stage where demand for quality commercial pilots is on the rapid increase. Airways Aviation students benefit from a large alumni, management with strong international experience, professional trainers & instructors, industry standard aircraft, state-of-the-art facilities and a strong association with industry and community alike.

“The opening of this new training and education facility on the Gold Coast Australia is one more important step towards realizing our goal of providing a truly unique and internationally recognized network of aviation education facilities.” said Aaron McDonald, Airways Aviation’s Business Development Manager.

Along with the overarching education focus Airways Aviation also support the local tourism, transport and emergency services industries.
