

Worldwide Parcel Services Offer Timescale on Father's Day Delivery

Worldwide Parcel Services are taking guiding customers with a timescale for delivery on or before Father's Day on June 14th 2014.

BELVEDERE, KENT, UK, June 2, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Worldwide Parcel Services are guiding customers with a timescale for delivery on or before Father's Day on June 14th 2014. Father's Day, falling on a Sunday, is a busy period for parcel delivery and the parcel delivery service are doing their up-most to ensure customers can have their parcels delivered in time.

For customers sending a parcel within the United Kingdom, Worldwide Parcel Services say it would be ideal for customers to have their parcel ordered and collected on or before Thursday June 12th. A different timescale will apply to those sending parcels outside of the UK to one of the 200 plus worldwide destinations that are available to send to online. If customers are sending a parcel to France, Spain, USA or any destination, then they should aim to have their parcel ordered and collected on or before Monday 9th June. Worldwide Parcel Services maintain this would be the correct timescale, giving even the lengthiest of deliveries to destinations such as Australia which can take between 2 – 5 days enough time.

Worldwide Parcel Services provide customers with a guide on restricted and prohibited items which should be used before customers choose to book a parcel online. Items may come under restricted or prohibited on Father's Day deliveries, such as cameras, laptops, designer clothing, iPads and other familiar presents/gifts. As long as any items that do not come under prohibited are sent, Worldwide Parcel Services will gladly have them delivered. However, there will be no compensation offered in the event of missing or broken parcels which the company say are very rare.

For customers shipping around the world this Father's Day, Worldwide Parcel Services offer some of the world's leading courier services to help delivery on time and avoid disappointment. Five services from top courier's including UPS, DHL and Interlink are available at some of the most competitive prices on the internet.

Worldwide Parcel Services offer cheap parcel delivery to over 200 worldwide destinations.
