Women are experiencing horrific complications from the Prolene mesh implant. They must file their vaginal mesh lawsuit immediately.

Lisa Spitzer MSW

has just announced that they have launched a special Florida hotline for women who have been injured by a transvaginal mesh or bladder sling. The Vaginal Mesh Helpline representatives have informed us that the states still left for women to file a vaginal mesh lawsuit are slimming down rapidly. We have learned that Florida has a 4 year statute of limitations for product liability lawsuits and is one of only 8 states still left. The other states include: Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, Wyoming, Missouri, Maine and North Dakota. The helpline has decided to concentrate their efforts on Florida due to the numbers of women over the age of 55. "Most vaginal mesh and bladder sling implants are surgically implanted to correct a weakened pelvic wall. This results in both organ prolapse and urinary incontinence. As women become post menopausal these problems become more prevalent." "We are targeting our outreach on Florida due to the numbers of older women". "We do not want these women to miss their chances at filing a lawsuit". They are reaching out to women thru-out Florida including the cities of South Florida. The local Florida lawyers in the network can help you if your mesh was implanted in a medical facility in Boca Raton, Bradenton, Cape Coral, Clearwater, Coral Gables, Daytona, Delray Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Myers, Fort Pierce, Fort Walton Beach, Gainesville, Hialeah, Hollywood, Homestead, Jacksonville, Key West, Kissimmee, Lakeland, Largo, Melbourne, Miami Miami Beach, Naples, New Smyrna Beach, Ocala, Orlando, Panama City, Pensacola, Plantation, Pompano Beach, Port Saint Lucie, Palm Beach, St. Petersburg, Sarasota, Clearwater Tallahassee, Bradenton Tampa, Tarpon Springs, Titusville, Venice, Vero Beach, West Palm Beach, Pensacola, Winter Garden, Winter Haven, Winter Park or anyplace in Florida. They do not want any women to be left out of a Florida vaginal mesh lawsuit.

They advise us that all Florida mesh lawsuits will be filed in one of the centralized multi district litigations based on the manufacturer of the mesh. These are:
