

Dispensed2U Inc. Takes to Indiegogo with Mobile Marijuana Delivery App Campaign

Dispensed2U Inc. has unveiled the company's Indiegogo campaign to fund the creation of the company's all-new Dispensed2U mobile marijuana delivery app.

BROOKLYN, NEW YORK, USA, June 18, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Brooklyn, New York June 18, 2014 – Crowdfunding has become an incredibly popular way to take something from concept to concrete reality, and that's exactly what Dispensed2U, Inc. is tapping into with the company's new Indiegogo campaign. Dispensed2U, Inc.'s Indiegogo campaign will help raise funds for the creation of the company's mobile marijuana delivery app - $125,000 is needed for development through one of the nation's top app development firms based in New York City. The campaign will officially kick off on June 17, 2014.

"This app will revolutionize the way customers can order and receive their product. Simply sign up on our website or mobile app, place orders with nearby dispensaries and receive recreational marijuana delivered right to your door," said Tim Martin, Chief Executive Officer of Dispensed2U, Inc. The Dispensed2U app will be made available for iPhone, iPad and Android users.

"This app will be ready for use in states where recreational marijuana is legalized. When other states legalize it, we'll be there," added Jared Morrison, Chief Operating Officer of Dispensed2U, Inc. Currently, both Colorado and Washington have legalized recreational marijuana use, and several others have pending legislation to decriminalize marijuana use.

The new app will act as a hub to connect customers with nearby dispensaries that offer delivery services. This saves customers time and hassle, as locating dispensaries that deliver can be extremely difficult to do, even with the resources of the Internet available. However, the app will also benefit dispensaries by providing significant revenue increases for partners participating in the app.

“The app will be free to use for customers; however, we will charge a 10% fee to participating dispensaries. The fee will be greatly offset by the increase in business that dispensaries are expected to see,” said Wayne Han, Chief Financial Officer of Dispensed2U, Inc.
