

Contact Nucleus Creates A Buzz At Tech Week

My King Productions launches Contact Nucleus at Tech Week and demonstrates the power of sharing like never before.

MILWAUKEE, WI, USA, July 2, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Contact Nucleus unleashed the power of "Sharing information like never before" during Tech Week in Chicago.

"97% of the people at Tech Week said they do not update their contact phone numbers. They later go and try to find the email. We talked about Contact sharing and how they can automatically share information and stay in sync. The Common response was 'Wow, this is great, very clever'." Michael Carow-Co-founder of Contact Nucleus.

Contact Nucleus mentioned during TechWeek on Twitter.

Contact Nucleus, created a major buzz around its key features. The tech community in Chicago started buzzing over the app's ability to automatically sync contact information when your colleagues or business groups update their information on their social media platforms. The app gives the option to select what is shared and automatically gives the most up-to-date information available for each contact every time it is updated.

Contact Nucleus received wonderful reviews at the trade show.

"I really need a way to filter out all the "noise" with Facebook and Twitter. Being able to use the dashboards and filters will save me a lot of time."

"I like how you (Contact Nucleus) capture where and how often I am interacting with a contact. Being able to see the last interactions at a glance is big."

The app gives a detailed timeline of interactions between users and their contacts at a touch of a button on the web, mobile or tablet. What makes Contact Nucleus unique from other android business apps, Google business apps, or iPhone apps is its ability to go from historical interactions to real-time with groups or individuals across social media, email, text or phone call.

One of the key features of Contact Nucleus is the ability to merge or unmerge a person's information. It is now possible to unmerge a person or an entire source with one simple click. No other business or personal contact sharing app in the market has this feature.

Contact Nucleus offers a 30-day free trial period. It also offers a referral program. Subscribers can refer friends and colleagues and extend their free membership. When a person's friend or colleague joins a paid subscription, Contact Nucleus will give one month free to the person who referred a friend or colleague.
