Windswept Creative Arts in East Lyme, CT, has published a 149-page "Beach Bath and Trash eGuide" describing 36 shoreline areas in Connecticut and Rhode Island.

EAST LYME, CT, USA, July 21, 2014
/EINPresswire.com/ -- Residents and travelers within Connecticut and Rhode Island now have access to a 149-page downloadable eGuide detailing the features and environmental policies of 36 shoreline beaches and parks.

The 2014 "Beach Bath and Trash eGuide" has been published this summer as a resource to help beachgoers match their recreational needs to offerings at the region's beaches and coastal parks. The comprehensive eGuide details information about parking, bathroom facilities, waste disposal policies, showers and changing, sand and water quality, handicapped accessibility, rules and restrictions, eco-friendly features, and more—all designed to help visitors reach the destinations that are right for them with minimal cost in time or money.

It also reveals insider tips and must-sees at each location, in addition to general advice about navigating area beaches during peak summer times.

The eGuide is enhanced with symbols, maps, and full-color photos showing multiple views at each of the 36 locations described. The publication also emphasizes an understanding of what the states and towns are doing to address environmental needs at shoreline areas and how this impacts visitors.

The eGuide is available as an instantly downloadable PDF file from www.BeachBathAndTrash.com. More information can requested at info@beachbathandtrash.com.
