

Don Vaughan, Attorney, Offers Legal Advice

Don Vaughan, Attorney, reminds people of their basic legal rights

GREENSBORO, NC, USA, August 2, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Don Vaughan, Attorney, is an experienced attorney who has been practicing law for more than thirty-three years. He has represented clients on a broad range of legal matters, from civil and business litigation to criminal cases.

Don Vaughan, Attorney, has proven time and again that he is eminently qualified to handle the most challenging and complicated criminal matters. In at least one instance, he is credited with performing the legal work that resulted in a wrongly convicted man getting back his freedom. "My son spent seventeen years in jail for a murder he didn't commit," his mother said. "He was released largely through the efforts of ... Don [Vaughan]."

With this sort of background, Don Vaughan, Attorney, has sound advice for those who might themselves be confronted with a difficult situation involving the police.

One of the most important things to remember, Don Vaughan, Attorney, states, is to always be polite with the police. Remember that they are doing a job, and that the communities they serve rely on them to keep everyone safe and treat everyone fairly.

But if an officer would like to talk to you, Don Vaughan, Attorney, says to remember that you have the right to remain silent. If you want to exercise that right, you should say so out loud.

You also have the right to refuse to consent to a search of yourself or your car. If you have not been placed under arrest, you have the right to calmly leave.

Past clients of Don Vaughan, Attorney, say his legal advice served them well when they needed it most. "I didn't know what to do after being pulled over, but a friend recommended I call Don Vaughan," said a Greensboro woman. "I found it comforting having such an experienced attorney at my side. He explained everything, and I was very happy with the results."

Don Vaughan, Attorney, also has experience in multiple civil litigation arenas, including breach of contract, judgment collection, commercial litigation, employment disputes, business disputes and more. He is capable of aggressively pursuing justice for clients mired in all sorts of civil matters, and has defended clients ranging from individuals all the way to large and privately owned corporations. Each case is approached with care, and is aggressively pursued with the objective of achieving the best possible client satisfaction.

Don Vaughan, Attorney, is also experienced at writing wills. He understands that the last thing many people want to think about is writing a will or creating a trust, though they also know that the best way to protect themselves, their family and their assets is through expert estate planning. "I couldn't have been more pleased with my will," said a client. "Don Vaughan answered all of my questions and was there whenever I needed him."

Don Vaughan, Attorney, received his law degree from the Wake Forest University School of Law in 1979. He also holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and a Master in Public Administration from American University, which he received in 1976. He currently practices law in Greensboro, North Carolina.
