AIRWAYS Aviation continues to broaden its impact across the globe after celebrating the success of another international student.

Oman's Sulaiman Al Mahrizi has returned to his country of origin after completing his Command Instrument Rating course at the global company's Gold Coast base.

The 21-year-old fixed wing pilot is part of a growing number of international students choosing to study with the company that operates out of Australia, Malaysia, Middle East, Montenegro and United Kingdom.

Mr Al Mahrizi said he chose to study with Airways Aviation after being recommended by an airline in Oman.

"I cannot thank them enough, you can see the joy on their face every time a student accomplishes any stages," he said.

"It gives the students a boost to achieve more, the motto of the school is not about just making money, but recognising the students achievements too.

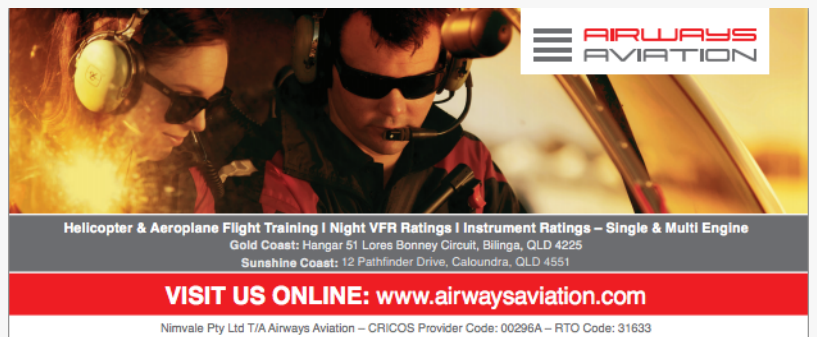

"They have dedicated and very professional staff."

Mr Al Mahrizi said he has always had a love for flying and was determined to pursue a career in fixed wing flying.

"The support from my family and friends helped inspire me to complete my training," he said.
