BOSTON, MA, USA, August 12, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Through the High-End Domain Names Acquisition program, the website will purchase distinct domain names connected with the names of iconic individuals, organizations, institutions, and companies. And as a matter of purpose, those names may or may not be associated with events or conditions in time.

Some examples of these High End Domain Names May be: Bill Gates, Wall Street, Oprah Winfrey, Mitt Romney, Bill Clinton, NY Yankees, NFL, Academy Awards, Mark Zuckerberg, Facebook, David and Charles Kock, Twitter, Warren Buffet, 21 Century Fox, Larry Ellison, Michael Bloomberg, Forbes, Jim & S. Robson Walton, Sheldon Ade son, Fortune, Jeff Bezos, NBA, Larry Page, Time Warner, etc.

Acquired Domain Names will be posted in this blog "Domain Name Assets: A Project of Createlinkusa.com to promote Newly Tested - Effective & Result-Oriented Education Reform and Upward Mobility within the American Economy." People and companies whose names are in a Domain owed by Createlinkusa.com can contact the website and buy back that DN, or engage in the company's effort, to bring about real change in education, or a DN can be re-acquired by supporting the website's charity. Domain Names that are not claimed within 6 months of acquisition by the website will be turned into a website, after which time, interested party may seek to purchase them.

This fund was created to provide direct assistance in an expedited manner in all regions of the United States to temporary, low wage, and project workers. Examples of project workers include, but are not limited to, writers, artists, and designers, with a particular focus on young adults and older workers and those who live away from family support.

The purpose of this fund is to deliver direct assistance to people in need of meeting basic human needs, such as rent, food, travel, and medical treatment.

The High End Domain Names Acquisition program will also promote the planning and development of forum, electronic communication, and materials to help States, Cities, and communities, to implement a series of applied educational practices to place the United in a race to the top in the worldwide education rank. Those practices involve a comprehensive new way of utilizing the classroom and engaging student so that every student can learn to the maximum level of his or her ability, the development of relevant learning materials, the application of sound and tested teaching and learning tools and strategies, as well as an overhaul of the teacher training system, and a working link between school, children, and the home.

Education and economic justice advocates can join this program at this early stage as forum organizers, political lobbyists, media contributors, community representatives, and government liaisons. Entrepreneurs and investors are invited to invest during the open investment period from September 1, 2014 through March 31, 2015. The company will only accept a limited number of investors - no more than 100, and investment will be limited to $50,000. Investing in this program will yield double the current interest rate, investment in savings accounts, CD, and IRA. All capital investment will be paid out by December 31, 2015, at which time new open investment opportunities may be announced by Createlinkusa.com.
