

The next generation in work-life and diversity support is here - the Work & Life Hub.

Supporting all your employees and providing powerful people metrics that are paramount to HR strategies.

SYDNEY, NSW, AUSTRALIA, August 19, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The next generation in work-life and diversity support is here - introducing the holistic and inclusive Work & Life Hub.

Over the past year Sydney-based work-life and diversity solutions provider SeventeenHundred have been researching the needs of people within organisations and the associated work-life challenges.

These powerful insights have led to the launch of their holistic and inclusive portal, the Work & Life Hub.

In the work-life and diversity space this marks a fundamental shift away from separate support services to one inclusive and holistic service enabling organisations to support all employees at all life stages.

The Work & Life Hub is an interactive online portal containing, articles, advice, tools and services. Key areas of interest include those with caring responsibilities, parents and parents to be, in transition stages, seniors, health and wellbeing, flexibility, and disability.

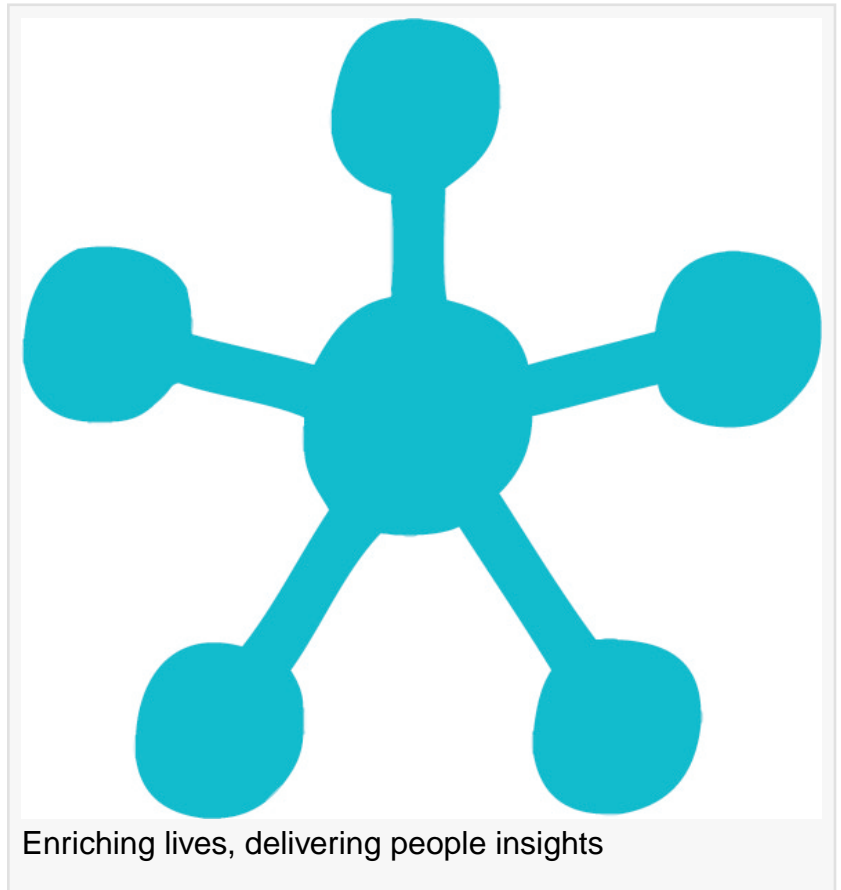

We are most excited by the reporting function that will transform engagement strategies”

Fiona Hitchiner

In addition to the user portal the Work & Life Hub has a human resource interface — the HR Hub.

“We are most excited by the reporting function that will transform engagement strategies” says Fiona Hitchiner, SeventeenHundred’s Product Director.

“With access to real-time people insights, live data usage and metrics, human resource departments will always be in touch with what’s going on in the lives of their employees, key for a number of human resource strategies.”

The Work & Life Hub encapsulates SeventeenHundred's vision.

“Our vision is to create workplaces where individuals feel supported, enriched and can be their whole self. We recognise that people are not just one dimensional they are multi-faceted and diversity and inclusion go beyond the hiring.

People need to feel a sense of belonging, respect and being valued for who they are. There is a level of support and commitment required to enable them to be at their best” adds Fiona.

The Work & Life Hub will be launched and on show at the AHRI National Convention and Exhibition that begins tomorrow.

-Ends-

CONTACT INFORMATION

Molly Lewis, Marketing Manager, SeventeenHundred
0448 005 496, mlewis@seventeenhundred.com.au, www.seventeenhundred.com.au

ABOUT

SeventeenHundred provides work-life integration and diversity solutions to support organisations and the journey of their employees — enabling individuals to balance their work commitments with external responsibilities; enriching their wellbeing.

SeventeenHundred supports a large and diverse list of clients across Australia and New Zealand including both blue chip and SME. Over half a million people benefit from their services including 150,000 employees and their immediate families.

Our flagship service the Work & Life Hub is a unique all-inclusive and holistic service that enables people to bring their whole self to work no matter what stage in their work journey they are at. It is one place for comprehensive advice and services needed to balance work, life and wellbeing.

Molly Lewis
SeventeenHundred
61448005496
email us here

---

This press release can be viewed online at: <http://www.einpresswire.com>

Disclaimer: If you have any questions regarding information in this press release please contact the company listed in the press release. Please do not contact EIN Presswire. We will be unable to assist you with your inquiry. EIN Presswire disclaims any content contained in these releases.

© 1995-2017 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.