

Rift Recon's Art of Escape Infiltrates New York City

The West Coast's Premier Survival and Escape Training Will Now be Offered in New York City

NEW YORK, NY, USA, August 23, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Rift Recon will host its renowned "Art of Escape" training on August 28, 29, and 30 in upper Manhattan for a variety of students from all walks of life.

Rift Recon's renowned Art of Escape training has been at the forefront of a surging survival subculture on the West Coast. Though they cater to individuals from all walks of life, they are especially pertinent to the challenges faced by those in executive professions. People in managerial or governing roles are susceptible to numerous online and physical security vulnerabilities, particularly while in transit. It is crucial that they garner the awareness and ability to navigate effectively in high risk environments and protect themselves accordingly.

“

Rift Recon's Art of Escape was the best urban escape, evasion, and survival course I've had since training with the CIA.

Barry Eisler, novelist & former CIA agent

“Rift Recon's Art of Escape was the best urban escape, evasion, and survival course I've had since training with the CIA. Improvised lock picks; caching valuables; elements of disguise; and so much more... all capped off by a full day field exercise, thoughtfully conducted to mimic real-life conditions and inject real adrenal stress. I'm amazed at how much was covered in just three days, and can't wait to take the intermediate course as soon as soon as it's ready.”

Barry Eisler, bestselling American novelist & former CIA agent.

Rift Recon CEO Eric Michaud and lead trainer Brian O'Shea will share their expert industry knowledge with participants, such as how to pick, bypass, and open locks; open handcuffs, duct tape, and rope; as well as effectively utilize social engineering, situational awareness, and active confidence schemes to their advantage. The training will include two classroom days followed by a comprehensive daylong abduction simulation designed to put the students' newfound knowledge into practice. They'll have to gain the trust of their captors, break free of their restraints, escape by gaining access to restricted or unauthorized areas without detection, secure confidential information, and much, much more. Participants should prepare for the unexpected, the unknown, and the unimaginable.

Who should attend?

Executives and Employees traveling to a high risk areas

Finance and Legal Professionals seeking a strong team building exercise with key take away skills

Personnel involved with Executive Protection / Protection Service Details

Enthusiast interested in escape, evasion & survival.

A limited number of seats still remain but are filling up fast. If you would like to attend, please sign up at <http://shop.riftrecon.com/collections/training/products/art-of-escape-sf>

ASIS and 9/11 First Responders save 10%...call for discount details.

Brian O'Shea

Striker Pierce on behalf of Rift Recon

571-451-4833

email us here

This press release can be viewed online at: <http://www.einpresswire.com>

Disclaimer: If you have any questions regarding information in this press release please contact the company listed in the press release. Please do not contact EIN Presswire. We will be unable to assist you with your inquiry. EIN Presswire disclaims any content contained in these releases.

© 1995-2015 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.