

Realtor Dan Skelly Offers Major Discounts to Vets, Teachers and First Responders

Evergreen, Colorado realtor Dan Skelly announces rebate offer to veterans, teachers and first responders when buying a home using Skelly's brokerage services.

EVERGREEN/COLORADO, USA, August 25, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Evergreen, Colorado realtor at Keller Williams, Dan Skelly, announced today that the real estate agency is now offering discounts and rebates to teachers, veterans and first responders when using the agency's real estate services for purchasing or selling a home.

As part of the offer, Skelly says the agency will reimburse these community servants the cost of their home inspection (up to $450 on properties over $250,000 if the property closes) as well as discount their broker fee (75%) when selling the home using Keller Williams Foothills Dan Skelly.

Associate broker, Dan Skelly, said this while commenting on the agency's latest promotion, "If anyone deserves a discount on their real estate services it is the people that keep us free and safe and teach our children."

Dan Skelly's Evergreen, Colorado agency specializes in mountain properties and all aspects of these unique rural dwellings such as wells, septic systems and easements. Skelly also specializes in luxury homes, horse properties, farms and ranches.

Skelly also notes that the website operated by the Evergreen agency, Foothillsrealproperty.com, has also had a recent makeover. The upgrades to the site include better overall functionality and performance as well as improved client experience when a visitor is researching a home in Evergreen. "The fact is that 90% of all home searches start online, so I felt that it was necessary to have as many valuable resources on my website as is practical," said Skelly.

Visitors to the new FoothillsRealProperty website will find a major MLS search function that includes nearly every field of the Denver MLS system. The new website also gives visitors an opportunity to sign up for new home listing alerts as well current market condition reports.

"Every real estate agent has to be tech savvy or they, and their clients will suffer for it," said Skelly. He then added, "If your broker isn't in the electronic world by now, you may want to ask them why not?"
