

Spokane Cosmetic Surgeon Named a National Trainer for Cynosure®

Dr. Kevin Johnson, who has a cosmetic surgery practice in Spokane, has been designated to train other physicians on PrecisionTx™, among other treatments.

SPOKANE, WA, USA, September 7, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Kevin Johnson (www.advancedaestheticsmd.com), a cosmetic surgery specialist in Spokane, Washington, and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, has been designated a national trainer for several Cynosure cosmetic treatments, including PrecisionTx laser-assisted body contouring, his most recent certification.

"Our Advanced Aesthetics Training Institute offers physicians and their staff members the tools and training required to provide patients with excellent results in a range of aesthetic treatments," Dr. Johnson says. "We are an official Cynosure Training Center for the clinical and surgical training of physicians and their staffs from around the United States on Smartlipo™, Cellulaze™, and now PrecisionTx."

These advanced body sculpting and cellulite-reduction techniques help patients at Dr. Johnson's practice achieve their cosmetic goals without undergoing more invasive procedures such as traditional facelifts and tummy tucks.

At his Spokane and Coeur d'Alene locations, Dr. Johnson uses PrecisionTx to contour the lower face and neck and give patients a more defined jawline. The system's laser energy also promotes collagen growth to tighten skin through soft tissue coagulation and give it a more youthful appearance. Dr. Johnson says he's excited to add it to the list of services at his training center.

"I'm proud that Advanced Aesthetics is one of the top training centers in the Northwest and the U.S. at large," Dr. Johnson says. "Our patients have benefitted from the experience and skill of our staff, and our training center opens those benefits up to other physicians and their patients around the country."

Device manufacturer Cynosure has created a number of the aesthetic industry's most popular and well-regarded cosmetic enhancement technologies. The company's laser-assisted devices are used for a range of cosmetic procedures, including laser-assisted liposuction, cellulite reduction, and laser hair removal.

The Spokane cosmetic surgeon says Cellulaze is one of his most popular treatments, as it's the only minimally invasive method of reducing cellulite with clinical data showing that results last up to 3 years.

Advanced Aesthetics is also one of the busiest Smartlipo clinics in the Northwest. Smartlipo adds laser energy to traditional liposuction methods, helping it destroy fat cells in areas of the body in a way that's less invasive and requires less downtime from the patient.

"I've trained and lectured for more than 1,000 physicians and nurses from around the country since I was first designated as a national trainer for Cynosure devices," Dr. Johnson says. "With the addition of PrecisionTx, I look forward to continuing to help these doctors and their staffs succeed in their aesthetic practices."
