

The “Organic Movement” – A Perfect Harmony between the Modern Lifestyle and Nutrition

Dinescu & Dinescu Organics: Redefining organic food

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, September 12, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Health, Fitness, and Nutrition complement each other in many different ways. A well balanced nutrition plan will help individuals stay healthy, active, energetic and powerful throughout the day be it at office or workout sessions in a gym. And when that nutrition comes from 100% organic food, the results are much more effective. Dinescu & Dinescu Organics is one such company that concentrates on helping individuals understand the importance of blending fitness, nutrition and organic eating each day every day. D&D's Complete Nutrition is no supplement but a meal in itself. Weight watchers do not have to worry about skipping meals or following meal plans that are difficult to follow.

D&D's product line is sourced 100% from US sustainable farms and is produced with no added preservatives or fillers. They are free of antibiotics, hormones and steroids. The company aims at providing healthy and effective organic products that people can rely on. Although the company was launched just a few days ago, it is making big on social media with 10,000 likes in just 10 days on Facebook, 30,000 on Twitter and making its presence felt through news platforms such as NBC, ABC, etc. The company has already signed celebrities, Olympic athletes and other influential personalities from across the world.

D&D is receiving hundreds of pre-orders every day even before the opening of the official site. This is the reason why the company has decided to launch a Kickstarter campaign. “We want to make sure that we can offer all of our customers D&D Organics”, says Vincent Dinescu, President of Dinescu &

Dinescu Organics. “We wanted to launch a company that could genuinely help people by providing them with accurate information about health and fitness while also creating a first-of-kind disrupting product line that is proven effective, eco-friendly, non-GMO, and sourced from USDA certified organic food”, says Eugene Dinescu, CEO of Dinescu & Dinescu Organics. “We are committed to helping people improve their lives by empowering them with the truth about fitness and nutrition.

Moreover we want to provide healthy, effective, and organic products that people can trust”, adds Eugene.
