NEW YORK, NY, USA, September 15, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- David Adler, C.E.O. and founder of BizBash, announced today that his company has teamed up with global event listing business evnt to debut a new service for event professionals: BizBash Push. Event organizers for trade shows, conferences, and consumer events will now be able to push their event listings to multiple sites with a single form, saving hours of time and increasing efficiency.

According to Adler, "New discovery algorithms are changing the game for attendees looking to find relevant events. BizBash Push, powered by evnt, has been launched to help event organizers find new registrants and ticket buyers. This new service eliminates the grueling process of filling out multiple input forms and makes listing events manageable, saving hundreds of hours."

Richard Green, the founder of evnt, says, "We are thrilled to team up with BizBash because of its wide and diversified audience. Organizers need to find attendees in new ways, and with event discovery such an exploding phenomenon, it's critical to be in all the appropriate listings that are the basis for the databases that actually find and recommend events."
