About Blessing Birdnest™

In the 1980s as the family behind Blessing Birdnest™ was purchasing an old colonial compound in Cepu, Central Java, Indonesia, they noticed a flock of birds flying overhead. It seemed that their property became home to the swiftlet birds that produce the most precious edible bird's nest, enjoyed as a Chinese health food delicacy for hundreds of years. Feeling incredibly blessed that the swiftlets had chosen to nest at their compound, they chose to name their company “Blessing Birdnest” out of gratitude for this gift.

Blessing Birdnest is proud to honor the tradition of swiftlet bird's nest as a treasured health food by preserving its natural purity in all of our products. None of Blessing Birdnest drinks or dry nests contain any additives, preservatives, artificial coloring agents, or chemical enhancers, ensuring the enjoyment of all the healthful properties consuming edible bird's nest brings.
