PHILADELPHIA, PA, USA, September 29, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mosaic Entertainment will hold an open house on Friday, October 3rd 2014 in their new State of the Art Recording Studio. Attending will be some of the industry's best independent artists, producers, D.J's and songwriters. Mosaic Entertainment formed in 2010 as an event promotions firm, selling out events with artists like Jagged Edge, Lil Kim, & Lyfe Jennings, just to name a few. Having evolved into seasoned event promoters, Mosaic also acquired two artists that they manage the careers for. Since stepping into the realm of artist management, Mosaic has exposed several local artists to paid performances, acquired distribution, and created several opportunities to shine. The Mosaic Entertainment Recording Studio seemed like the next logical step for the Philadelphia-bred group of entrepreneurs.

Housed in a 10,000 square foot facility in the Olney Section of Philadelphia, the new studio offers quality recording, mixing, and mastering. Local artists will have the opportunity to work with seasoned engineers who will guide them in producing a crisp and clear finished product. Because Mosaic will continue to produce live events with celebrity headliners, new artists will be given the opportunity to share the stage with them. "We like the direction that the company is moving into, we enjoy helping artists get to that next level", says founder Eva Moore. The Mosaic House would like to be known as a one-stop shop for artists looking to break into the music industry.

What's next for Mosaic Entertainment House? According to the small group of dreamers, expansion is on the horizon. Mosaic has several major events coming up, local artists in the area will really benefit from. Just recently, Mosaic's first artist – "J Fletch", had the opportunity to share the stage with hip-hop legends KRS ONE, MC Shan, and Das Efx at the Trocadero Theater in Philadelphia. This is just one of the many opportunities that Mosaic Entertainment House offers to new talent, J Fletch is also recording her first album in the new recording studio that is now open to the public. Mosaic even offers distribution for new artists who are not knowledgeable on getting their music in major outlets like Walmart, Target, and BestBuy. "The Mosaic Recording Studio is only a result of working hard and having the determination to grow", says Mosaic's founder Eva Moore.

Mosaic Entertainment's Open House is scheduled for Friday, October 3rd 2014 @ 7:30 p.m. All artists and music industry personnel are encouraged to attend. There will be a chance to network, showcase music projects, and to meet Mosaic Entertainment.
