

CEO of Striker Pierce Investigations to Speak at Annual Counter Corporate Espionage Conference in Ottawa

Brian O'Shea, CEO of Striker Pierce Investigations, will speak at the International Conference on Corporate Espionage in Ottawa on December 1, 2014

WASHINGTON, DC, USA, October 3, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Brian O'Shea, CEO and Founder of Striker Pierce Investigations, will speak at the International Conference on Corporate Espionage and Industrial Security in Ottawa on December 1, 2014.

The conference, held every year in Ottawa for the international business community is the only conference on corporate espionage and industrial security focusing on protecting classified information and trade secrets, presented in cooperation with private and public sector experts.

Michel Juneau-Katsuya, the conference organizer and author of several books on the subject, stated: "I believe having intelligence professionals joining our other important speakers really gives a lot to this conference that will help participants learn to think like a collector in order to protect against them."

Brian O'Shea brings over 20 years of experience in international intelligence operations, investigations, competitive intelligence, and counter-intelligence expertise to this already impressive line up of speakers.

Our job is to make people and organizations 'harder targets'
Brian O'Shea, CEO and Founder of Striker Pierce LLC

"I really believe that the true threat to businesses is recognizing that sometimes employees do not even realize they are giving away company secrets," stated O'Shea at a recent event in New York City. "Protecting your information from outsiders who exploit these employees can only be accomplished if you think like a collector. This way you can

About the ICCE 2014(<http://icceconferences.com/app.php/>): Why ICCE, and Why Now?

- There is an alarming lack of knowledge/awareness within companies of the threats they face.
- Companies are not sufficiently prepared to face insider threats, as demonstrated by the cases of Edward Snowden, Jeffrey Deslisle and Qing Quinton Huang.
- This is not an intelligence conference but rather a conference focusing on assisting Company and Department Security Officers to protect against corporate espionage and adopt sound security practices.
- It is the only conference in North America dedicated to helping companies protect themselves from Corporate Espionage, Insider Threats, and Theft of Intellectual Property and Trade Secrets.
- It is the only non-governmental conference in the world to offer presentations at the "secret" level for non-government security officers.
- It is the only conference in North America where you can meet and hear real spies talking about how they were able to steal secrets from companies and governments.
