

Farmington Hills author signed to publish new Christian book.

FARMINGTON HILLS, Mich. — Tate Publishing announces the signing of local author Weannessa Collins and her Christian book Caught in the Black Hole of Death.

FARMINGTON HILLS, MI, USA, October 11, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Caught in the Black Hole of Death is about spiritual awareness of what we are dealing with everyday as Christians, no matter what color or culture we are a part of. Collins shares, “We are dealing with a spiritual warfare in our minds, body and soul, recognizing that hell is real, and that many of us do not live life according to His will and purposes for us. It is about an awareness that we all have been called to follow Christ and we need to live according to the Bible.”

“God placed [this book] on my heart some years ago... I would say around the year 2000 after my son died,” said Collins. “I didn’t know where to begin or even know how to type, but I got some paper and started writing.”

“A longtime friend... agreed to help me and I believe it [was on] Christmas and she surprised me by presenting my beautifully typed manuscript – I couldn’t believe it! She brought me to tears,” shared Collins.

Published by Tate Publishing and Enterprises, the book will be available upon its release through bookstores nationwide, from the publisher at www.tatepublishing.com/bookstore, or by visiting barnesandnoble.com or amazon.com.

Collins was raised in the church and had what she refers to as a “a lot of hard times” that helped her to grow to appreciate life now. She never imagined that she would someday be a writer, but has always enjoyed artistic expression, including singing and drawing. Beyond these passions, she enjoys spending time with family and friends, fellowshiping with God, long walks, spending time at beaches and parks, traveling and discovering new adventures.
