NAPERVILLE, IL, USA, October 16, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- BluePay Processing, an all-in-one payment processing solutions provider, has partnered with OpenCart to integrate credit card processing services into OpenCart's shopping cart software.

OpenCart is a user-friendly, open source shopping cart system that allows Internet retailers to participate in e-commerce at a minimal cost.

"OpenCart is excited to be partnered and integrated with BluePay's credit card and E-check payment module. We are confident that our merchants will benefit from the payment efficiency and security that BluePay has come to be known for," commented Gareth Christian-Lim, Director at Welford Media, partner of OpenCart.

Merchants using the OpenCart 2.0 software will have the option to choose BluePay as their payment processor during setup. BluePay's module is free and embedded in OpenCart 2.0, the newest software version.

"We are excited to partner with OpenCart to give our merchants and their customers a seamless, secure way to process electronic payments online," said Kristen Gramigna, Chief Marketing Officer at BluePay.

By using BluePay's e-commerce credit card processing services, Internet retailers can expect the highest level of end-to-end credit card processing that is unmatched in security and value.
