The new Engraved Family Tree is the most recent creation of the artisans of LovelsARose.com.

WARRENVILLE, ILLINOIS, USA, October 23, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Engraved Family Tree joins three additional family tree products that have made families cry with joy for over 40 years. Artfully designed and beautifully affordable, the Engraved Family Tree honors the love of family.

The Engraved Family Tree holds each family member's name, birth date, and sparkling birthstone on hearts and discs that decorate the branches. The wrought iron tree is available as a stand or a wall unit at www.LovelsARose.com. An engraved metal plate with the date of occasion, the family surname, and a title such as "Our Family Tree," "25th Wedding Anniversary," or "Christmas 2014" decorates the base. The family's heritage lives on year, after year, as names and birthstones are easily added when new members enter the family circle.

Additional family birthstone tree styles are available including walnut wood framed and plaque versions. The family names and birth dates are etched in jeweler's brass or antique nickel with vibrant birthstones becoming the treasures decorating the branches. They are then ready to be displayed in a place of honor. The family trees are given to parents, grandparents, husbands, wives, and employers.

The original manufacturing process used to produce the first family trees required meticulous hand work. The volume of orders from all over the world required the creation of new inventive, priority-engraving techniques. After years of experimentation, new technologies have been developed to allow for the production of the new versions.

"The family birthstone trees are a way for families to create an heirloom that will last for generations," stated Sid Fey, CEO. "It is a lasting way to represent what is cherished most – family, everywhere in the world,” concluded Fey.
